

I am a subscriber to XM Satellite radio and greatly appreciate being able to hear my local weather and traffic information, along with the other great programing. I do not understand why anyone should want to prevent XM from meeting my needs, since I pay for this service. Why should the National Association of Broadcasters be able to decide what information can be sold to me? I am the one paying for it and attempting to prevent XM from selling me what I want to buy seems unfair to me. If the rest of the National Association of Broadcasters was giving me what I wanted, I would not be paying for a subscription service to XM, would I?

Please reject the National Association of Broadcaster's petition 04-160. We need more services, not less.

Sincerely,

Sharma Oliver
